Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

This ridiculous tax must be completely eliminated. Unlike the sponsors of this effort to "keep the tax fair", I am well aware that universal rural telephone service is pretty much completed. In addition, with cellular telphones it is all a moot point. It seems beyond Americans to understand that projects have an end, a finish, and this effort must end. No one in rural America is without telephone service anymore.

Please do the right thing and propose the elimination of this waste of money. Don't propose some sort of "fair" version of an antiquate tax--get rid of it!

Thank you.
